Reflection

Today, we celebrate the Presentation of the Lord in the temple. On this occasion, Simeon proclaims God's praise and thanksgiving for the coming of the Messiah. In his canticle, Simeon proclaims the greatness of the Lord and confirms that he is ready for salvation since he has seen the coming of the Lord. Jesus is presented as prescribed to the Jewish customs, and as he is presented at the temple, the gospel tells that Jesus continued “to grow and become strong, filled with wisdom; and that the favor of God was upon him” (Luke 2:40) with love and nurturing from his parents: Mary and Joseph. Something to reflect on from this feast day is the humility of Jesus throughout all the festivities and experiences he went through as a child. Imagine: The king of the universe, who created all things on earth and beyond, who even knew your name before you were conceived, came to earth as a humble child. He had to learn to walk, talk, eat, and drink. He had to learn the Torah and the Jewish scriptures. He had to go to school and learn manners. As it says in Philippians: “...Though he was in the form of God, [Jesus] did not regard equality with God something to be grasped. Rather, he emptied himself, taking the form of a slave, coming in human likeness; and found human in appearance, he humbled himself...”(Philippians 2:6-8) As Jesus grew throughout his upbringing, he remained God but never boasted his divinity. He humbled himself to be human and live amongst his creation. As we celebrate this feast this week, let us reflect on some questions to help in our reflection:

- How do I look at children?
 - Are they gifts from the Lord, even when they are energetic and wild?
- Have I given all I have to offer for my children or the children in my family?
 - Are there things I still want them to learn or hope we can learn together?
- Do I pray for my children (grandchildren)?
